

Aussie Barns

Made for Australian conditions

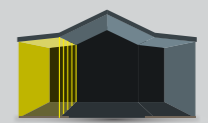

The Aussie Barn is a real product of its environment. It has evolved over time to become the perfect barn for Australian farmers, delivering high functionality, adaptability and durability that has made it a favourite across our great country. It is both stylish and practical. The clever design provides maximum use of the available headroom. The central space provides room for big farm machinery to be stored whilst the side wings offer functional areas that can be used for storage, workshops or anything else you desire.

Internal walls can be used to separate areas of the Aussie Barn or you can select not to have them at all, making larger open areas.

The smart design makes it a very price competitive option. There are many different sizing options available and you can choose to have a single roller door, multiple roller doors, or a combination of roller doors and personal access doors. You can also add sliding doors and windows. The choice is all yours.

The great Aussie all-rounder

Partitioned or large open areas